Price Lists

Use Price Lists when a named set of product prices should be shared by several customers or customer groups. Lists can be assigned directly or matched with customer and address conditions.

A list can have dates and its own internal priority. Product rows can contain quantity breaks. A list marked Is Base Pricelist is exposed as the separate Base Pricelist price type. It behaves as a fallback only when the Price System selection strategy gives Pricelist precedence and checks Base Pricelist next.
